Dear Payee:

In approximately September 2013, you received a Notice of Proposed Settlement in a case called Klee v. Nissan North America, Inc., Civil Action No. CV 12-08238 in which the Plaintiffs made allegations about driving range and battery capacity in the 2011-2012 model year Nissan LEAF™. Factitious.

After the original settlement was preliminarily approved by the Court, Nissan and counsel for the Settlement Class agreed to amend the Settlement Agreement to further enhance customer satisfaction for those who were early adopters of electric vehicle technology, to add value for the Class, and address concerns raised by certain objectors. The Amended Settlement has received final approval from the Court and this letter is being provided to explain the additional benefits to which you are entitled as a Settlement Class Member.

The original settlement benefit available to all Settlement Class Members who did not opt out of the settlement was a modification of the Nissan New Electric Vehicle Limited Warranty for 2011-2012 model year Nissan LEAF™ vehicles to include coverage against capacity loss below nine bars of capacity, as shown on the vehicle's capacity gauge, for a period of 60 months from the original in service date of the vehicle or until the vehicle reaches 60,000 miles, whichever occurs first. The original benefit gave Nissan the option to repair or replace the battery to restore the battery capacity to nine bars.

The Amended Settlement removed Nissan's option to repair, instead of replace, the battery. In other words, if your 2011 and/or 2012 Nissan LEAF™ experiences capacity loss below nine bars of capacity within 60 months or 60,000 miles, whichever occurs first, and you bring your car to an authorized Nissan dealership, the dealer will replace the vehicle's battery, with the newly developed battery currently used in 2015 model year LEAF™ vehicles that is intended to make the battery more durable in extremely hot climates. This warranty is limited by the existing terms in the Nissan New Electric Vehicle Limited Warranty.

The Amended Settlement also entitles Settlement Class Members not residing in Arizona, California, Georgia, Illinois, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, Maryland, Indiana, and Washington to receive a check for $50. Our records indicate that you are entitled to receive a check for $50 (there will be a limit of one $50 check per Vehicle Identification Number) which is enclosed.
